Division of Social Sciences

Active Emeriti Local Computing Support Policy

It is the policy of the Division of Social Sciences that the Division's active emeriti will receive, with one exception, locally-provided computing support to the same extent, and in the same ways, it is provided to current senate faculty. For the purposes of this policy, 'active emeriti' are defined as those who have been recalled by their departments to teach, conduct research, or provide service at UC Santa Cruz. Active emeriti include those with the title "Professor Recalled," whether paid or unpaid, and those with the title "Research Professor."

The one exception is that locally-provided support to active emeriti differs from that provided to current senate faculty in that active emeriti will only be eligible to receive as a replacement "primary system," a re-deployed system rather than a new system.

As an alternative to receiving a re-deployed system, an active emeriti may deposit funds to his/her research account, and purchase a new computer using those funds. Computers purchased in this manner must be one of the then current standard systems used within the Division, and it will be owned by the University, just as other research-funded equipment is owned.

Software will be provided just as it is for current senate faculty.

Just as for current senate faculty, personally-owned systems are not supported, and the use of University-licensed software on them is not permitted.
